OSINBAJO'23

THE PLAN
(ABRIDGED)

A Unified Country

A country divided will not stand.

Yemi Osinbajo will unify the nation as one cohesive yet diverse unit. People will not be discriminated against on the basis of ethnicity, religion, class or gender.

Yemi Osinbajo will

- Promote inclusion in decision making, allocation of opportunities and participation;
- Promote equity in the allocation of state resources;
- iv. build a strong and enduring Nigerian identity which knits all the diversity into a robust national fabric;

- Adopt and propagate a national ethos that projects the Nigerian spirit and a body of similar attitudes and positive cultural values beneficial to the nation and will espouse:
 - i. similar aspirations and desires that promote the growth and development of the nation;
 - ii. commitment to national ideals;
 - iii. improve economic performance and well-being of Nigerians;
- v. a unified approach in confronting external threats to the nation.
- Galvanise government, civil society, private sector, faith-based organisations and traditional institutions to advance the cohesion and integration agenda;
- Restore confidence in government by promoting values of integrity in public service;
- Ensure justice and promote healing and restoration for injured communities and people.

A Safe Country For All

Yemi Osinbajo will continue to invest in building the capacity of our security forces and win the battle against banditry, terrorism, extremism, kidnapping and other anarchical enterprises.

He will:

- Enact a modern and relevant security architecture and framework that prioritises and addresses Nigeria's current security realities.
- Address both human and material resources constraints of the Nigerian military and police force.
- Address the Farmer-Pastoralist conflict through the continued and full implementation of the National Livestock Transformation Plan.
- Actively engage the regional, continental and global dimensions of the issues that add pressure to Nigeria's insecurity concerns.
- Advance ongoing efforts in police reform to establish a modern 21st century Police.
- Secure our communities – ensure decentralised policing and community policing approaches
- Boost the military industrial capacity with a view to making it a market leader on the African continent.

Jobs And Opportunities

With a large youth population, Nigeria is in a strong position to build a workforce that is skilled, competent and successful. To do this, Yemi Osinbajo will prioritise the Manufacturing, Technology, Agriculture and Construction sectors.

He will focus on:

- Supporting young people to acquire relevant skills;
- Building infrastructure to support the prioritised sectors;
- Creating a supportive business environment; and
- Where necessary, provide or facilitate financing for businesses and young people to thrive in entrepreneurship;
- Promoting integrated rural development

Agriculture

The Agriculture sector provides 35% of employment in Nigeria and contributes an average of 30% to the GDP of Nigeria.

Yemi Osinbajo's strategy to develop the agricultural sector will:

1. Build Markets
2. Facilitate Finance
3. Improve Processing
4. Increase Yields

His policies will:

- Increase the funding towards Research and Development to generate and commercialise new agricultural technologies fit for the Nigerian climate to the maximisation of our Agricultural potential.
- Increase funding to maintain and increase the capacity of old farms and create new farms to ensure food security for the nation as well as ensure agricultural development programmes.
- Integrate agricultural commodity value chains into the broader supply chain of Nigerian and global industry, driving job growth, increasing the contribution of agriculture to wealth creation, and enhancing the capacity of the country to earn foreign exchange from agricultural export.

Manufacturing

Industrialising our economy will remain a key focus and light industry including the following will be prioritized: petrochemicals, plastics, recycling, garment-making.

Therefore, Yemi Osinbajo will:

- Fully implement the Special Economic Zone Projects and finalise them in all six geopolitical zones.

- Establish Special Production and Processing Centres to support agriculture processing and enrich exports across the country.
- Provide energy sources including harnessing natural gas as a viable transition energy source to power our industrialisation endeavours.
- Expand the availability of development finance to support manufacturing.
- Facilitate easy access to raw materials and intermediate goods.

Construction

- Accelerate ongoing investment and construction of Social Housing to support the expansion of direct and indirect jobs in the construction of homes and the local manufacture of building materials.

Technology

In the age of technology, disruption is at the core of growth.

With emerging technologies progressing at a rapid pace there is an opportunity to leverage and leapfrog on virtually every component for growth and development.

Yemi Osinbajo will ensure that Nigeria takes the lead and leverage technology as an enabler sector.

He will:

- Continue the implementation of the Investment in Creative and Digital Enterprises (i-DICE) Programme;
- Institute Government policy, regulation and legislation to support the ease of doing business for technology and creative sector businesses;
- Review of the Public Procurement Act to enable start-up and growth stage companies bid for Federal Government contracts;

- Establish a start-up visa category to attract the best talent from across the world that seeks to invest in Nigeria's technology and creativity sector. The visa will be valid for an initial period of five years with the possibility for a further five-year extension based on the performance of the investments;
- Policy support for ecosystem investment in the technology sector with specific focus on the advantages of new technologies including cryptocurrencies, blockchain technology, artificial intelligence and machine learning, drone manufacturing and operations;

- Coordinate an Africa-wide policy direction for the growth of technology and creative sector companies, leveraging the provisions of the African Continental Free Trade Area Agreement (AfCFTA);
- Provide workspace vouchers for 20,000 start-ups annually, working with Enterprise Support Organisations, Innovation Centres, and Technology Hubs across the 36 states of Nigeria and the FCT;
- Define framework and criteria for the designation of Technology and Creativity Free Trade Zones. Work with the private sector to deliver the first zone in each of the 6 geopolitical zones in Nigeria.

Investing in People

Education

Nigeria will be one big Learning Centre. We will build a national ethos- introduce an educational paradigm that is built on an orientation around the values of hard work, honesty, patriotism and service.

Yemi Osinbajo will:

- Halve the number of children out of school in four years through existing programmes that target out of school children;
- Intentionally invest in the development of practical, creative and innovative skills for young Nigerians that will be the catalyst for Nigeria's emerging knowledge economy,

- Review and implement policies that will provide a strong foundation for young Nigerians in Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Mathematics (STEAM) and other related skills positioning them for digital and economic present and future.

- Expand and accelerate teacher training
- Improve school infrastructure and expand the number of classrooms across the country
- Continue to improve the training and welfare of teachers, lecturers and instructors as a priority.

Investing in People

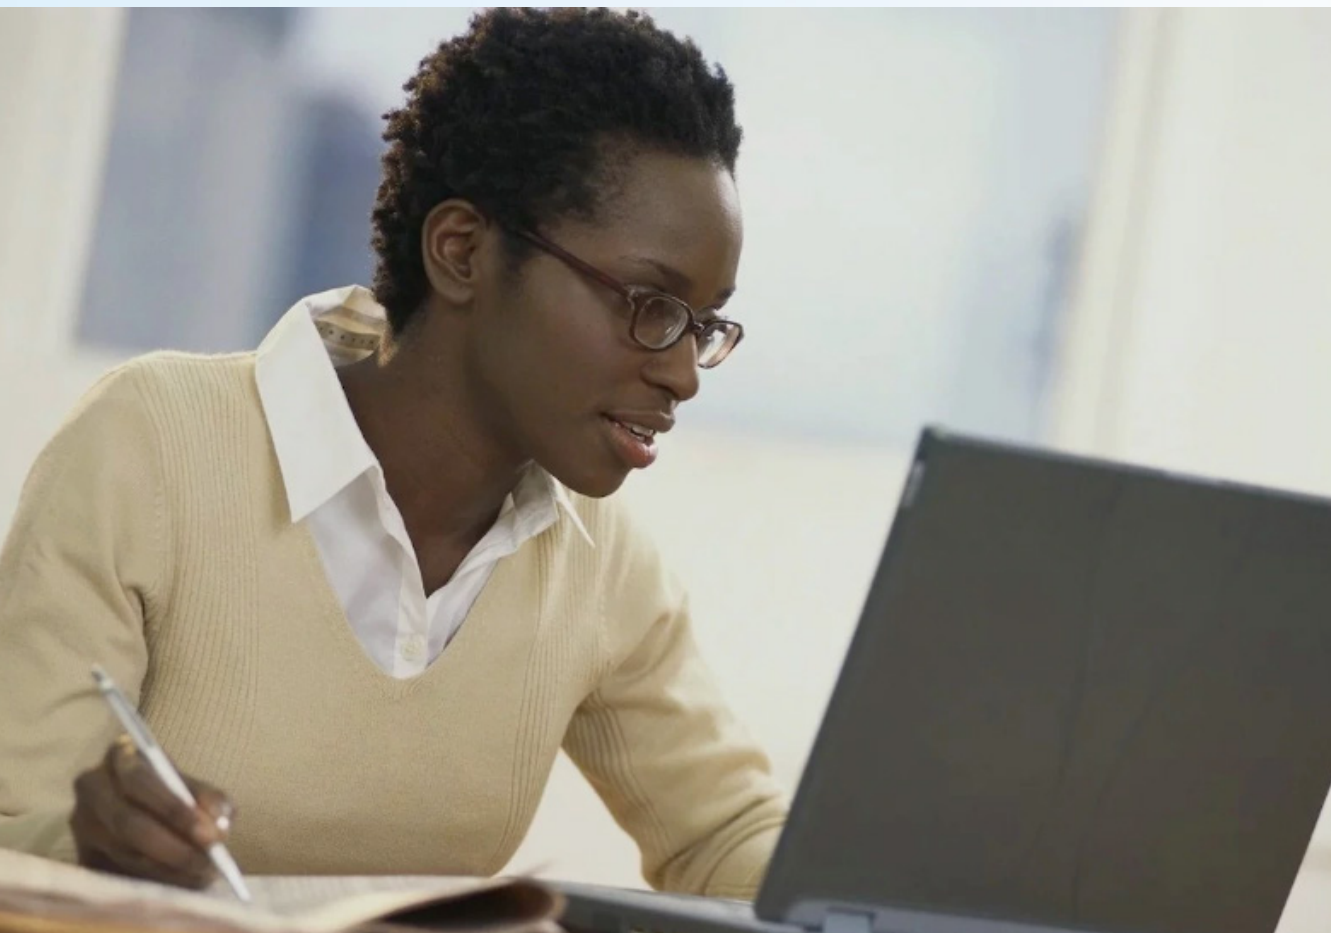

Skills and Human Capital Development

Yemi Osinbajo will increase opportunities for young people to acquire work experience to increase their chances of finding long term work. He will expand the Nigeria Jubilee Fellows Programme to ensure that at least 40,000 graduates can acquire one year's paid work experience in the private and public sector.

He will:

- Provide sustainable financing options to digital and creative sector skills and talent providers across the country.
- Establish one Digital and Creativity Sector Skills Centre of Excellence per State. Each centre of excellence will be a collaboration between private sector implementation experts and an institution of higher learning, with a capacity to train a minimum of 25,000 individuals in intermediate level digital and creative sector skills annually.
- Work with the private sector on the development of capacity for skills development in blockchain technologies, artificial intelligence, machine learning, data analytics, data science, animation, script writing, cinematography etc in higher institutions across the country and via the centres of excellence.

Investing in People

Social Investments

Over the last 7 years, Nigeria has instituted and implemented the largest social safety net programme in Africa. The programme has supported the poorest families, job seekers, traders and artisans in the country through the following:

- Conditional Cash Transfers to the poor families
- N-Power jobs for young jobseekers
- School Feeding for primary school children
- GEEP soft loans for traders, artisans and farmers

It is now time to fulfil the promise of lifting 100 million Nigerians out of poverty within this decade and commit wholeheartedly to making sure that no Nigerian is left behind. Yemi Osinbajo will consolidate on the progress made by the social investments programme by expanding it to reach even more Nigerians. He will work with the National Assembly to enact a legal framework to institutionalise the programme.

Investing in People

Health

To strengthen resilience against unforeseen events like global pandemics, Yemi Osinbajo will:

- Expand Universal Health Insurance to meet the needs of the poorest citizens
- Hasten the implementation of the Basic Healthcare Provision Fund to achieve at least a 65% increase in the share of the population covered by primary healthcare

Investment Climate

The progress of Nigerian businesses will remain a priority.

Yemi Osinbajo is committed to ensuring that everyone doing business in Nigeria, from multinationals, large corporations and established businesses to tech start-ups, and small businesses, is able to do so seamlessly and with ease.

He will:

- Intensify and expand existing reform efforts in order to ensure that regulatory compliance by businesses are cost-effective, speedy and less cumbersome.
- Digitize the application processes of business regulatory agencies for greater efficiency.

Making our Courts work for businesses:

Yemi Osinbajo will:

- Expand the pool of available judges by appointing more judges to clear backlog cases, and adequately provide for the remuneration and benefits of judicial officers and staff;
- Work with State Governments to ensure that small claims are addressed expeditiously across all the States of the Federation;
- Work with the judiciary to accelerate the adoption of digital technology in our courts for easier and quicker resolution of commercial disputes;

Championing MSMEs

Yemi Osinbajo will:

- Guarantee that MSMEs have access to finance;
- Provide MSMEs with the machinery and equipment they need by expanding MSMEs shared facilities across all the states in Nigeria;
- Facilitate a good rapport between MSMEs and regulatory agencies through MSME clinics and one-stop shops.

Infrastructure

Unprecedented Investment

Over the last 7 years, there has been an unprecedented investment in Nigeria's infrastructure. Yemi Osinbajo will continue these enabling investments until the whole of Nigeria is completely integrated, such that people, goods and services can flow freely within, as well as to and from Nigeria.

To be competitive, the economy must be a connected one. Yemi Osinbajo will consolidate upon the progress and expand Nigeria's infrastructure to support and strengthen both hard and virtual connectivity through the following means:

Rail

- Expand upon the Lagos-Ibadan Standard Gauge and the Abuja-Kaduna rail line by actualizing a strategic rail development that connects all major economic centres across Nigeria. Key priority areas will be completion of the Lagos- Kano and Lagos- Calabar rail projects,

Roads & Bridges

- Continue to utilise innovative mechanisms like the Sukuk Bonds to expand our roads and bridges network.

Airports

- We will improve the maintenance of and boost the operational efficiency of our four major international airports through the swift concessioning of Abuja, Lagos, Port Harcourt and Kano airports in the next four years.

Seaports

- Improve efficiency at Apapa ports, especially for export activity. Open up existing ports in the South East and South South regions of the country to ease exports.
- Broadband Infrastructure: Increase broadband penetration by 20% annually over the next 4 years;
- Mandate the implementation of a fibre duct for every new road construction or reconstruction on every federal road in the country. This is to aid the expansion of Nigeria's fibre optic broadband coverage across the country;
- Implement Nigeria's broadband policy and 5G policy in collaboration with the private sector for increased access;
- Support the expansion of broadband coverage and last mile broadband infrastructure to every institution of higher learning, healthcare institutions, and other public centres of strategic interest, through public-private sector partnerships to ensure sustainability.

Achieving Energy Security for Nigeria

Yemi Osinbajo will:

- Improve our energy efficiency by optimising our current installed capacity;
- Harness natural gas reserves as a transitional energy source as both feedstock and energy source for industry;
- Diversify our energy mix and expand energy access by including greater use of solar energy through the implementation of the Solar Power Naija, Energising Education and Energising Economies Programmes;
- Solve the persistent issue of National Grid collapse by expanding the use of interconnected mini-grids;
- Solve domestic fuel shortage by building national reserves; and
- Eliminate sabotage of hydrocarbon and power infrastructure

An Inclusive Society

An inclusive society is important for sustainable prosperity

Yemi Osinbajo recognises that an inclusive society is important for sustainable prosperity and will:

- Ensure that women and young people fill a minimum of 35% of appointive positions;
- Work with organised private sector to ensure that women represent 35% of leadership positions in the private sector;

Addressing Systemic Discrimination and protecting Vulnerable Groups

- Review existing legislation and policy to eliminate systemic discrimination against vulnerable groups
- Work with States to ensure the full domestication of the Child Rights Act
- Ensure the full implementation of the Violence Against Persons Prohibition Act to secure greater protection against domestic violence, gender and sexual based violence;

Persons Living With Disability

- The full Implementation of the Disability Act to ensure that Persons Living With Disabilities have equal opportunity to live full and rounded lives.

Foreign Policy

Leadership in Africa

Yemi Osinbajo will :

- Maintain Nigeria's leadership position within Africa and work to deepen Nigeria's role in regional integration.
- Promote good governance and Facilitate Peace and Security through active engagement and the use of his good offices among neighbours in the region.

The Africa Continental Free Trade Agreement (AFCFTA) for Jobs & SMEs

- Through specific policy and value chain support, Yemi Osinbajo will improve our comparative advantage to position Nigerian businesses to capture a significant portion of the African market.
